90% MORE EFFICIENT THAN HUMANLY POSSIBLE

In 2000, Virtual Doorman launched an entirely new industry when we introduced the first remote doorman system which revolutionized the real estate industry by being the first to provide traditional doorman services remotely. We have significantly evolved since we established the prototype more than a two decades ago.

With our background, not only in the security industry, but also in telecommunications and audio visual technology, we had a unique ability to bring together and integrate a variety of technologies to provide superior security solutions.

The company saw the opportunity to utilize technology to create a cost effective yet secure alternative to the traditional doorman for small, luxury residential buildings. The concept of Virtual Doorman was created.

Our mission is to build upon our position as the originator and market leader in the remote/electronic doorman industry and always provide revolutionary and technologically-advanced solutions to our customers. Our team is committed to excellence and to delivering turnkey solutions that help secure buildings while enabling them to function more cost-effectively and efficiently.
