¹ For any companies that do not hold collegiate licenses but are in this program because of a license with the USMC, please note that you may consider any references to “collegiate” licensees to apply to you as a USMC licensee.

Introduction: affiliating with FLA's Collegiate Licensee Program

For over 25 years, colleges and universities have joined the FLA to demonstrate their commitment to ethical sourcing and fair labor standards throughout the supply chains of licensed products. As the next partner upstream in the supply chain, licensees of our member schools are required to affiliate with FLA and meet the requirements of the FLA Collegiate Licensee Program, including:

- Participation in quarterly virtual trainings on socially responsible business practices;
- Workplace standards commitments, including a code of conduct aligned with FLA standards;
- Collegiate supply chain transparency, including factory/supplier disclosures;
- Willingness to participate in Fair Labor Investigations if they arise; and
- Annual affiliation renewal.

Companies engaging with the program benefit by increasing their awareness of the risks within collegiate supply chains and receiving actionable training to mitigate those risks. This program provides relevant and applicable resources to all companies in the collegiate industry, no matter your company size or sourcing structure.

Dues structure

Licensees pay dues to participate in the program, which includes access to FLA's trainings, platforms, capacity building resources, and staff support. Dues are calculated based on consolidated annual revenue, not just collegiate revenue. Please note that when registering for the first time, dues are prorated by quarter. Please see the dues structure below and use this calculator to forecast your complete annual dues.

Base Dues	$300
Calculation (This is added to the base dues)	$100 per $1 million in Consolidated Revenue
Maximum Dues	$8,000

Dues proration for registration:

- If signing up in Q1 (January-March): 100%
- If signing up in Q2 (April-June): 75%
- If signing up in Q3 (July-September): 50%
- If signing up in Q4 (October-December): 25%

After paying registration dues, you will need to renew and pay complete dues every January, as long as you continue to hold licenses with FLA University Member schools.
